

Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm excited to share a bit about my journey and passion for technology and innovation. Moving from India to the U.S. for college pushed me out of my comfort zone and taught me to adapt, solve problems on the fly, and embrace new challenges.

At Texas Christian University, I've taken every chance to lead and learn, whether managing a team of 8 in TCU Housing or serving as a teaching assistant. These experiences taught me the value of teamwork, resilience, and creative thinking.

During my internships at Qualcomm, I deepened my love for tech by organizing intern events and contributing to innovative projects. Separately, I have pursued personal projects that reflect my passion for creating practical solutions. I developed an AI patent classification model and created DropThatClass.com, a website for class reviews that's already helping students make informed decisions about their courses. These endeavors have sharpened my technical skills and reinforced my commitment to delivering value through technology.

Outside of my studies and work, I'm a big fan of sports, music, and staying active at the gym. I love exploring the latest tech trends and finding inspiration in everyday life.

I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how my experiences and enthusiasm can contribute to your team.

Sincerely,
Aaryan Dehade
